Bar Yehuda Airfield

Latitude: 31.3283 , Longitude: 35.3856, Altitude: -377.952 m

On the shore of the dead sea, the lowest airfield on earth. To the foot of Mount Masada. Breathtaking scenery, Historical monuments, approachable unique nature.

The airfield is about 2 hours from Tel-Aviv, and 45 minutes from Jerusalem. It is in the middle of a nature reserves - the Judean desert, The Dead sea shore and The salt mountain (Sedom)

2.6 Access By air:

Ben Gurion Airport (TLV) – The main airport of Israel, about 2 hours away.

Ramon Airport (ETM) – South airport, close to the city of Eilat. Less popular, but usually cheaper flights. Also 2 hours away.

The airports are the only recommended way to enter Israel.

Transportation will be arranged by the organizers on official arrival/departure days for free. It will be possible to arrange pick-ups on other dates, for a fee.

Car rental services are available at the airport.

A bus line from Jerusalem to Eilat, operates few times a day, stops on the competition location. (Relevant for both airports).

2.7 Weather: The Dead Sea shore is a very stable area with predictable weather conditions. Being the lowest point on earth, the UV is very low. Even on a high temperature day, the real feel is comfortable due to low humidity.

- The Temperatures goes around 25-30 degrees high (day) to 10-15 degrees low (night).
- Humidex level is 28.
- About 11 Sunshine hours: 29/10 – 05:53–16:50. 04/11: 06:00–16:48
- Rain is very rare in this area. And so is the cloud cover.
- The wind is steady north or south. Average 7 km/h.

2.8 Airspace restrictions:

The Dropzone area has a designated cylinder for parachuting. The organizers will submit a NOTAM and air force special permit for the entire event, including training days, to limit other possible traffic and have priority to the event.

A letter of support from the civil aviation authorities in Addendum B.

2.9 Landowner restrictions: No restrictions. Tamar regional council owns the airport and welcomes the event.

2.10 Details of event insurance

Liability insurance for non-jumping event personnel (FAI directors, employees, judges and officials) will be arranged by the Organiser.

The immediate medical First Aid to the participants is the responsibility of the organizer during the official event, including official training day

2.11 Details of insurance required by participants:

All competitors must have their own traveling insurance covering skydiving, med evac and medical expenses.

2.12 All budgeting and pricing has been forecasted using the current ISC rules in regards to the number of rounds, judge panel requirements, etc. the Organiser reserves the right to revise these figures should any changes occur in the rules that result in increased costs to the organizer. The ISC will immediately be informed in that case. If changes occur that enable us to reduce the cost, this will be noted in Bulletin One.

Competitor entry fees include:

- Competition costs: jumps, jump offs, re-jumps, one official practice jump
- Opening and closing Ceremony
- Lunch each day during competition days.
- Transportation from main hotels area to the DZ and back every day
- Pick up from/to the airport on official arrival/departure days.

2.31 Additional info: A detailed plan will be presented on the next ISC meeting.
the highlights:

Records day:

The Dead Sea is a unique spot, on planet earth. It was chosen to be one of the new 7 wonder of the world.

Being the lowest point on earth, there is a potential of obtaining multiple Guinness records (the largest FS / HD / HU / WS formation in the lowest point of earth).

we would like to have a "records day" at the end of the competition.

participation in those record will be for competitors and event officials only.

Guided tour to Jerusalem / Dead Sea surroundings

we would like to offer, for a small fee, a bonus tour day to Jerusalem or the surroundings of the dead sea, to enjoy the unique nature and landscape.

Opening OR closing ceremony

The event will take place to the foot of mount Masada. A monument with an epic story. We plan to have the opening OR closing ceremony, combined with a visit on the impressive historical site.

To whom it may concern,

Re: Airspace Requirements for the World Parachuting Championships, 2024

The Civil Aviation Authority of Israel (hereby: CAAI) would like to address the airspace requirements, in relation to the bid to host the FAI World Parachuting Championships in the various fields of skydiving, organized by the Israeli Skydive Association, and planned to take place in Mezada Airstrip (ICAO: LLMZ) in Israel, during end of October/Early November 2024.

Upon receiving an initial request, detailing the airspace requirements (availability, altitudes, profile etc.), and considering the other uses and users of the airspace for the above-mentioned period and location, CAAI will support airspace availability for the successful completion of the World Championship events.

With respect,

Libby Bahat | Director of Aviation Aerial Infrastructure Division | Civil Aviation Authority
